Question	Answer
Could you tell me about yourself and describe your background in brief?	I'm an electronic engineer with a passion for innovative technologies and sustainable energy solutions. I have a solid academic foundation and professional experience in laboratory maintenance and engineering design within the oil and gas industry. Currently, I'm focusing on improving my English skills to prepare for further studies in Germany, where I aim to pursue a master's degree in electrical engineering. My career goal is to contribute to the development of sustainable energy solutions.
What are your strengths and weaknesses?	Strengths  One of my key strengths is my problem-solving ability. Working in laboratory maintenance and engineering design for the oil and gas industry has taught me how to analyze complex issues and develop effective solutions under pressure. Another strength is my adaptability; I've successfully transitioned to living in a new

Hi Rosa María Olivero Betancourt,

That was a great job! Learning a new language is indeed a challenge, but you're on the right path. I recommend studying the International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA), as the sounds in our language are very different from those in English.

Keep up the excellent work!

Hello ESTEFANY ALEJANDRA MOLINA MOLINA

I really liked your interview—you have the right idea! Like me, we both need to work on improving our rhythm in English.

By the way, I'd like to talk with you sometime. I think you should mention more about the programming languages you know. You could also be a bit more technical in your explanations, but overall, it sounded good!
